

Ration Packing

Rationing is very important to soldiers to make sure they always have food.

Having now seen the ration packs Victorian soldiers were given, do you think they can be improved?

Have a go at designing your own!

What shape will your pack be?
Will your rations fit in a box or a pouch?

What food will give you energy for a whole day?

Does it need to be cooked? What will be eaten with it?

Will this emergency food go rotten quickly or will it last until you really need it?
